GLACIER PARK BREAKS ALL TOURIST RECORDS

More Than 10,000 Travelers Visit Uncle Sam's Newest Playground from June 1 to August 29.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 11.—Glacier National Park this season has broken all previous records as a "See America First" tourist attraction. More than ten thousand travelers visited the park from June 1st to August 29th an excess over even last year when there was heavy travel to the San Francisco and San Diego expositions and also to an unusually large number of conventions held in Seattle, Portland and other points on the Pacific coast.

Government officials announce that this is a record for rapid popularity in the history of national parks, when it is taken into consideration that Glacier Park is one of the newest of Uncle Sam's group of playgrounds.

GUEST ROOM COMFORT.

All of us have guests at some season and whether these week-ends be times of pleasure depends largely on the thoughtfulness of the hostess in advance, of her guest's comfort.

The best way I know to tell a woman what should be in her guest room is to ask her to pretend she is a guest for a day and a night. Has she sufficient stretchers for her clothes? A brush to clean them with? A pair of two of shoe forms on the closet floor?

Ah, a button is off; a safety pin is needed and just a needleful of thread to mend the lace on the white petticoat. The guest has forgotten her powder; of face cloths she may have none, and one can never have too many hairpins.

It is such a warm night. Where is the fan? And possibly her grip was so full that she couldn't stuff in her kimono and pair of boudoir slippers. She will not want to trouble you for a pitcher and glass from downstairs, so such a set may well be a permanent fixture of the guest room fittings.

Perhaps she has the latest magazine, but even then she might like to read a few snatches from the poets, or pick up a good romance antedating the period of the best seller. Paper? Of course she will want to write a letter, or at least send a postal card saying she has arrived safely, so why not some envelopes, paper, cards and a few stamps, so that she need not ask and feel she is bothering you for them?

Just one comfortable little rocker in which to relax in her negligee and, of course, a suitcase stand, so that she can open that heavy bag without bending her back or soiling your best bedspread.

A little vase of flowers. Is there anything you would like to have when you are "away from home" and find not—that thing put in your guest room.

The care of a man guest is another story. But his needs, too, should be considered, and his guest room will need to be all that the woman's guest room is not—no bric-a-brac, silk bags and tasseled slippers? A comfortable living den of a room, where smoking is permitted and where the hostess enters not!

NEEDLEWORK NOTES.

Hooks and eyes have a disagreeable habit of dropping off at the most inopportune moments. If, however, they are sewed on with buttonhole stitch instead of the over and over stitch you will find that they will last much longer.

A bride who takes the greatest pride in her linens has a rather odd pillowcase. She took a runner of pillow tubing the exact width of the bed and this she embroidered in a charming design with the monogram in the center. Both pillows are placed in this case during daytime hours.

Darning on huckaback is easily done and is excellent when one wants work that is relaxing. If the material is pressed on the wrong side over a pad before starting the work the blunt edge will slip with even greater ease under the little squares. Sometimes the design itself is darned, the darning stitches running across the material.

The nightgowns of the present time are so elaborate and so charmingly dainty that they need must have a case for themselves. Take a piece of linen and fold it in envelope shape. The size is regulated according to taste. The flap of the case is scalloped and a design of flower or a conventional design is embroidered on it. A touch of color can be introduced by lining the case in any pastel shade.

RHUBARB JAM.

Six pounds of rhubarb, 4 pounds of sugar, 2 ounces of root ginger. Peel the rhubarb and weigh after peeling. Cut into pieces about two inches long and put into a large basin with the sugar and the ginger which must be bruised and tied in a muslin bag. Leave this for three days, stirring it gently each day to help the sugar dissolve, says The Queen, London. Strain the liquor from the fruit the third day, boil it to a syrup, and pour over fruit while hot. Let it stand for three days without stirring, then pour all into a preserving pan, taking the ginger bag out, and boil from half to three quarters of an hour after it comes to the boil. Pour into clean, dry jars and cover. Root ginger, bruised and tied in muslin, or ground ginger is generally used for jams.

FOR THIN CHEEKS.

To make thin cheeks plump rub skin food in with the following movements: To treat the right cheek place the thumb of the left hand just beyond the corner of the mouth on the left cheek as a brace. Make rotary movements upward and outward, beginning at the corner of the mouth and making three diverging lines of manipulation over the cheek. With the right hand treat the left cheek. About six times over each cheek is sufficient.

CORN PIE.

Cut the kernels from ears as for steaming. Make a rich pie paste, line a deep baking dish with it as for oyster pie and put into it alternate layers of cut corn and little blocks of dough. Dot each layer with bits of butter and season to taste. Cover all with a very liberal quantity of milk. Put on a top cover of pastry and bake until a rich brown.

STUFFED ROASTED GREEN PEPPERS.

Cut off the tops of the peppers and remove the seeds. Make a forced meat of minced chicken and rice, season with salt and onion juice and soften with melted butter. Fill the peppers with this, arrange them in a baking dish pour about them a little gravy or stock, that they may not burn, cover and bake in a moderate oven for an hour. Uncover and brown.

A Study In Black and White.

LENORE ULRICH, MOROSCO-PALLAS STAR, IN PARAMOUNT PICTURES.

Have you ever cast your silhouette against a wall?

Try it, because if it is as clear cut as that of Lenore Ulrich, the Morosco-Pallas star in Paramount Pictures, in the accompanying illustration, you, too, may have the opportunity of becoming a motion picture star of fame.

Miss Ulrich says it is very much easier to choose a type by a silhouette than it is by a photograph that has been taken by a high-class photographer who is given the opportunity of making one look more beautiful than the really are.

Mrs. Brown tells her grocer:
"Please send me some tea—black tea."
And he does!

But Mrs. Brown, perhaps, doesn't realize that there are two distinct types of black tea: English Breakfast and Ceylon. And that she might like one better than the other. The way to choose tea is by taste. If you will send ten cents, we'll mail you the Taste Packet—the simplest, surest way to know good tea.

The Taste Packet contains four parchment envelopes of Schilling's Tea—Japan, English Breakfast, Ceylon and Oolong—enough to make five or six cups of each taste.
